

It's the Island calling

Pediatrician Duncan, Vancouver Island

The Vancouver Island Health Authority (Island Health) has an opportunity for a full-time Pediatrician at the Cowichan District Hospital in the community of Duncan.

The Cowichan District Hospital is a 110-bed facility serving 77,000 people. Duncan is a thriving young community with ample opportunities for a varied pediatric practice. Pediatricians with subspecialty interests are strongly encouraged to apply.

Eligible applicants will hold or be eligible for Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada (FRCPC) certification and be eligible for licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC.

Join a collegial medical staff of Family Practitioners, Emergency Medicine Specialists, Anesthesiologists, General Surgeons, Orthopedic Specialists, Urologists, ENT Specialists, Ophthalmologists, General & Subspecialty Internists, Obstetrics/Gynecologists, Pathologists, and Radiologists.

The Cowichan Valley has a mixture of scenic/charming communities and lush countryside, mountains and lakes bordered by ocean. A temperate West Coast climate allows for year-round golf, hiking, biking, and kayaking. Boating and sport fishing are popular, as are wine tours, gardening, and Equestrian sports. Excellent public schools are complemented by private schools of international reputation. Victoria located one hour to the south, offers cultural activities and conveniences a city of 300,000 can provide.

Why not take advantage of our temperate West Coast climate, enjoy a multitude of recreational opportunities and bring your career to a location where the benefits are naturally distracting.
