Program Announced

Mark your calendar for this year's Children's Health Today Conference on November 8 and 9, 2024 at UBC Robson Square in downtown Vancouver!

You'll want to attend this upcoming conference which is presented through a partnership between BC Pediatric Society and the BC Children's Hospital.

Every year the BC Pediatric Society partners with a different specialty from BC Children's Hospital. This year, we are thrilled to be working with the Division of Hematology/Oncology/Bone Marrow Transplantation.

Day 1, Friday, November 8, will cover presentations on a variety of subjects at the forefront of every pediatrician's mind. From AI medicine, borderline personality disorder/suicidal patients, and PICU on the go to a dermatology update and pediatric general surgery for the pediatrician, we will have eight presentations that have been hand-picked as the top issues affecting today's youth.

Day 2, Saturday, November 9, will focus on hematology, oncology, and bone marrow transplantation. From a keynote on hereditary cancer disposition in pediatric patients, common hemolytic anemias, and management of pediatric ITP to management of severe and/or refractory iron deficiency anemia and coping and wellness for providers when caring for dying patients, there will be eight presentations from specialists wanting to share their expert knowledge with you.
